OVERVIEW

Sean is an associate in the firm's Casualty Department, where he primarily handles, first party auto insurance claims, fraud/special investigations, and breach of contract disputes. He also has experience handling amusement, sports, and recreation matters.

Prior to joining Marshall Dennehey, Sean worked as outside counsel for a national automobile insurance company and previously worked as in-house counsel for Florida's largest non-standard automobile insurance company. Before working in insurance defense, Sean was an attorney for Florida's Department of Children and Families, where he successfully litigated countless legal issues and obtained numerous successful bench trial verdicts that protected the vulnerable and allowed children to become adopted.

Sean earned his juris doctor and graduated magna cum laude from Ave Maria School of Law in Naples, Florida. In law school, Sean served as an Associate Editor on Law Review and a member of the Moot Court Board.

Dismissal of Florida No-Fault/PIP action.

Personal Injury Protection (PIP) Litigation

December 12, 2022

The action was brought against an out-of-state insurer based on the plaintiff's failure to arbitrate. The plaintiff filed suit against a New Jersey insurance company over treatment that occurred in Florida. However, the subject policy and the laws of New Jersey require mandatory arbitration prior to initiating litigation. On the defendant's motion to dismiss and compel arbitration, the court found that the doctrine of lex loci contractus applied, which required the plaintiff to comply with New Jersey law and policy and to submit to arbitration prior to filing suit.
