OVERVIEW

Tom Nardi is a member of the Casualty Department where he will defend clients across broad range of legal fields including general liability, product liability, trucking and transportation, automobile liability and premises and retail liability. As an experienced litigator and trial attorney, he previously represented clients in constitutional, civil rights, municipal and governmental liability.

Tom has a varied career, giving him a depth and breadth of litigation experience he brings to bear for his clients. Immediately prior to joining Marshall Dennehey, Tom was an Assistant Public Defender, where successfully represented clients in a broad range of matters from traffic-related misdemeanors to felonies with potential mandatory life sentences. Tom has taken hundreds of misdemeanors and felony matters from first appearance to resolution, eventually specializing in juvenile and domestic cases. In addition, Tom previously worked at a large law civil firm in the Philadelphia area, where his practice was in both state and federal court, representing institutional and private clients in all manner of matters, from personal injury to complex constitutional claims.

Outside of his legal practice, Tom is an active participant in Stonewall sports leagues, Quizzo nights, and bad movie marathons. He and his husband are also working to visit every National Park; they've currently been to 16.

RESULTS

Successfully Defended SEPTA in a Wrongful Death and Survival Case

General Liability

Trucking & Transportation Liability

December 4, 2024

We successfully defended the Southeastern Pennsylvania Transportation Authority (SEPTA) in a wrongful death and survival case in the Philadelphia County Court of Common Pleas. The case involved the death of a pedestrian, Vincent Boykin, struck by a SEPTA bus, with the plaintiff, his father, disputing the Philadelphia Medical Examiner's suicide ruling. The defense presented a forensic psychiatrist's testimony confirming Mr. Boykin's high suicide risk. Although SEPTA was found 40% negligent, the decedent's 60% negligence barred recovery of damages.

Defense Verdict for Public Transportation System in Philadelphia's Court of Common Pleas

Trucking & Transportation Liability

December 2, 2024

We obtained a defense verdict on behalf of a public transportation system in a Wrongful Death and Survival case in the Philadelphia County Court of Common Pleas. The case involved the death of a pedestrian, struck by a bus, with the plaintiff, his father, disputing the Philadelphia Medical Examiner's suicide ruling. The defense presented a forensic psychiatrist's testimony confirming the deceased's high suicide risk. Although the transportation system was found 40% negligent, the decedent's 60% negligence barred recovery of damages.

SIGNIFICANT REPRESENTATIVE MATTERS

Successfully obtained a defense verdict for a public transportation system in a Wrongful Death and Survival case in the Philadelphia County Court of Common Pleas. The case involved the death of a pedestrian, struck by a bus, with the plaintiff, his father, disputing the Philadelphia Medical Examiner's suicide ruling. The defense presented a forensic psychiatrist's testimony confirming the deceased's high suicide risk. Although the transportation system was found 40% negligent, the decedent's 60% negligence barred recovery of damages. The claim was further limited by statutory caps applicable to Commonwealth entities.
